Housing under Pressure. Dynamics Between Centers and Peripheries.

Rapid urban growth may be associated with economic upturn and technical innovation - but it also generates tense housing markets with rising housing costs and lack of affordable and qualitative housing. Other related aspects include social inequality, densification, shortage of public space and shifting urban functions. At this conference transdisciplinary discussions will provide new perspectives on social housing and sustainable urban development.

The INUAS Network

The members of the INUAS network – FH Campus Wien University of Applied Sciences, Munich University of Applied Sciences, and ZHAW Zurich University of Applied Sciences – are among the largest providers of application-oriented teaching and applied research in their home countries. Kicking off the series “Urban Transformation”, the Vienna 2019 conference is dedicated to “Housing,” while the focus in Munich in 2020 will be on “Resources,” followed by “Public Spaces” in 2021 in Zurich.
